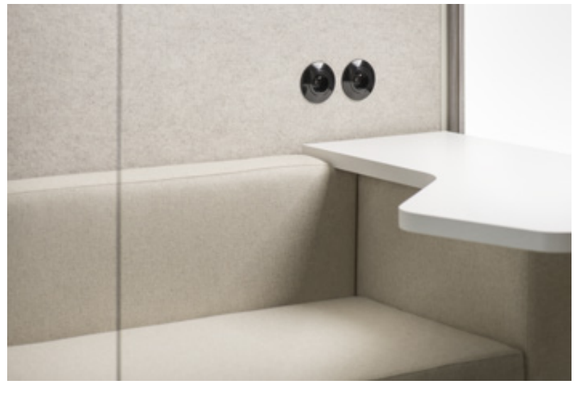
light and air

Big Hauz is an acoustic booth, independent and movable. Made in modules like bricks to play easy to install and disassembly by professional fitters, which allows you to take it with you even if you change the location to another city.

For your convenience Big Hauz is equipped with nice transparent glazing, so there is a lot of light inside and no feeling of isolation from the surroundings. Inside you can find the sofa with integrated countertop and mobile pouf with the backrest for the second user. Inside there are also two power sockets installed (don't forget to specify the standard of the power sockets by ordering). Big Hauz in standard provides also active air ventilation and additional light source that works automatically thanks to the move detector installed inside. To start with Big Hauz only one power socket in the wall or in the floor is enough, the rest is intelligently controlled by electronics inside.



Big Hauz is an acoustic booth – house for one or two persons that allows you to isolate yourself acoustically from the surroundings and focus on an important call or task, one on one discussion or a teamwork that needs quiet and concentration. The booth needs a small space (3 sqm) and can be placed near the workstations, what safes the time as well. The acoustics it provide ensure that the noise coming from the outside will not disturb the work in focus as well as the conversations made inside will not disturb to the work of the other people and keep confidential. Thanks to its transparency the house don't block the natural light.
